The year 2017 will mark the celebratory Sesquicentennial period for the University of Illinois, a land grant institution that was established in 1867. In honor of this celebration University Catering at the University of Illinois have worked to develop a menu that highlights ingredients during this period.

Preservation of food, availability of goods, and storage were all key components for settlers. The versatility, healthiness and practicality were common considerations for meals during this period. While creating the Sesquicentennial menu our Chefs highlighted options that would have been relevant to the period, providing you with many notable options.

Thank you for using University Catering! We are excited at the opportunity to help make your event a memorable occasion. We hope the menu selections will nourish your guests and allow you to discuss the significance of the menu as it is related to the history of our institution. Enjoy!
